

Bible Tracing Cards and More

Download free Bible story coloring pages from the internet or cut pictures from Bible coloring books.¹ Mount these on cardboard backings to preserve them. The pictures can be kept on file and used a number of ways.

- 1 – Bible tracing cards are popular with preteens, and they make good Bible learning center activities.

Materials:

- Mounted Bible story pictures.
- Tracing paper. Patternmaking paper from a fabric store or online source works well.
- Different color fine-point markers.

Procedure:

Using the fine-point markers, children trace a Bible picture onto a piece of tracing paper and color it. When finished they have an attractive sun catcher. The picture looks nice taped on a sunny window.

- 2 – Mounted pictures can be photocopied as needed and colored by the children with crayons, markers, or colored pencils as an ordinary coloring project.
- 3 – A set of mounted pictures can be used to illustrate a Bible story during lesson time. The children can use mounted pictures to retell the story afterward.

Stained Glass Effect

Rub the children's crayon work with cotton dipped in baby oil or mineral oil. Hang it in a window. The sunlight coming through will give their art work a stained glass effect.
